eSOne InQuiry Note Editor - Beta

Coming Soon

What's New?

DeliverHealth is thrilled to announce a major upgrade coming to InQuery: the new Note Editor!

The editor has been redesigned with a sleek, modern interface, ensuring a clean and user-friendly experience. Pertinent information is now intuitively organized into tabs, making it easier to access what you need. With the new Note Editor, you'll have the ability to edit note text, demographics, associates, and more—all in one streamlined workspace.

Beta Testing Opportunity

The new Note Editor will soon be available for beta testing, and we're inviting interested users to participate.

To join the beta:

1. Email us at QA@DeliverHealth.com.
2. Include in the email the Inquiry username and client code to be used for testing; include as many as needed.
3. Provide your preferred email address so we can keep you updated on beta status and progress.

Your Feedback Matters

Beta feedback is integral to shaping the final look and functionality of the Note Editor. By participating in the beta, you'll have the opportunity to help refine the editor to better meet your needs and preferences.

Legacy Editor Access

During the beta testing phase, users will have access to the legacy editor with the click of a button, should the need arise. This ensures a seamless experience as you transition and explore the new features.
